

GREAT PLANS FOR UNI. VESTED CHOIR

Public Appearance Soon; Trips
Planned to Promote School's Fame.

Professor Logan is very enthusiastic over the U. of O. vested choir. There will be two rehearsals a week. One will be Tuesday evening at 7:30; the other day is yet decided, possibly Sunday afternoons until after football season.

Plan Public Appearance

He says "There is more interest and enthusiasm manifested now than there was at first. We are working hard and looking forward to a public appearance in the near future."

To Take Trips

The choir will go on trips as soon as it has a repertoire of fourteen or fifteen numbers; this means memorized and finished work. The trips will be week-ends and during spring vacation. Some of the numbers will be done a capella (without piano accompaniment).

Mr. Logan as not definitely decided on the number of students for the choir. He says "Some are coming and trying out yet, and others will be dropping out. Only the group of students who are willing to work and sacrifice will stay. Interest will keep them in."

The object of the trips is to promote the good name of the University of Omaha, and the School of Music. The choir has displayed real talent as a group.

Kindergarten In Uni. Science Hall

Good Times Recalled by Visit to Youngsters Room of Learning.

"Backward, turn backward, Oh Time in your flight," might well be the burden of the thoughts of one who enters the model kindergarten, located in Science Hall. Kindergarten days return with a vividness that is surprising when one sees the toys and other equipment provided for the tiny tot.

An imagination which may have lain dormant for a long time would surely come to life again when the little house, which shows real constructing ability, as well, comes into view. It would be more than easy to see the fairies who surely inhabit it to make pleasant the playtime of the children.

That the music elves come in for their share of attention is proved by the huge stack of music which lays on top of the piano. More than one humorous, touching incident could be told had they only the power of speech.

Blessed fairies, how lovely they made the days of kindergarten! It takes little children or very wise ones grown old to know and appreciate them, but here in their abiding place anyone can see their works and feel their presence.

PAN-HELLENIC MEETS; DECIDE MEETING DAY

The Pan-Hellenic Council met Thursday morning, October 11, in Dean James' office.

Christmas Dances

At this meeting the date for the Christmas dances of some of the sororities and fraternities were turned in. So far the dates which the Calendar Committee of the Council have received are: December 19, the Pi Omega Pi sorority; December 21, the Phi Delta Psi sorority; December 27, the Gamma Sigma Omikron sorority; and December 28, the Theta Phi Delta fraternity.

Rules for Members

The rules of the Pan-Hellenic Council which were being typed by Miss Cleo McGuire for each sorority and fraternity would be ready October 5, it was announced.

The meeting ended with deciding the first Monday in every month as the date for the regular council meetings.

Plan Organization Of Choral Society

Immediate Organization and Work On Oratoria "Elijah"
Planned.

A University Choral Society is the latest addition for the School of Music. This organization plans to start work immediately on the oratorio, "Elijah" by Mendelssohn.

Hope for Two Hundred

"We hope to have two hundred or more voices in the choir," says Professor Noel Logan, Head of the School of Music. Members of the church choir of the city and others who are interested, as well as U. of O. students, Professor Logan explained, will be eligible for membership in the choir. It is very likely that soloists will be imported from out of the city, and it is hoped that the choir can have orchestral accompaniment.

The School of Music is also offering the students the opportunity to study the best classics and symphonies in the new Sight-Reading Class, at a very small fee. Each class of four members, two at each piano, is held during school hours and university credit is given.

Steady Growth Shown

The Music School has shown a steady growth since its organization the first of the semester. It has been necessary to secure Miss Catherine Clow to teach piano, and her schedule is already full. A new piano instructor is wanted to satisfy the demand. Demands for all music courses at the U. of O. is unusually great, according to the instructors in the School.

Late Dr. Jenkins and Dean Dunlap Laid Plans For Department for Salesmanship, Insurance, Merchandising, Etc.

Four years ago, two men dreamed a dream. But unlike many dreams, this dream was not purely selfish. It was a dream which had to do with the advancement of Omaha University and with serving the city of Omaha. It was a dream of a department which should fit young people of this city and the surrounding territory for a useful business life.

It was a dream of a place where these students could learn practical work in various phases of commercial life: Salesmanship, Insurance, Merchandising, etc. It was based on the principle that such a department could operate economically, help the youth to obtain the needed knowledge, and co-operate with the business interests of the city. The dreamers were men everyone knows; the well-loved late president of the university, Dr. Jenkins, and the general dean of the present Department of Commerce, Mr. Dunlap.

Today the Department of Commerce stands as a monument, both to the practicality of the stuff of which the dream was made and to the perseverance of the dreamers. The salesmanship section has functioned successfully for three years and is now entering an even more successful period. The work used in this section has been so very excellent that at present it is going through the National Dairy Service Corporation for distribution to 2,000 dairies.

Reports Made

Wednesday, Dr. Emery and Mr. Dunlap met with the Insurance Division of the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Emery gave a talk, stressing the necessity of commercial education in the business world and economic life. He stated that he believed that the training that the Department of Commerce is giving is on the right basis. Mr. Dunlap gave a report on the progress that the Kindergarten in Insurance, a training school in insurance for students in insurance, has made. Last year there were five pupils in the Kindergarten, this year there are fifteen. Of the five who took the work last year, two are working in the offices of the National Security Fire Insurance Co. Mr. Walsh, the manager of the office, says that they are at least one year more advanced than the ordinary student.

Library Boasts Big Collection

The University of Omaha now boasts about 3300 volumes. Magazines subscribed for this year will be about the same as those of 1927-28.

New Magazine Room

The new magazine room in the basement relieves an overcrowded condition. Shelves for older publications line the east wall. Newspapers and about thirty-five other current periodicals are available. Chairs and tables are arranged for more than twenty-five students. Encyclopedias and world history reference works are also conveniently located there.

Miss Inez Chesnut, librarian, requests that all students wishing to take magazines out of the Magazine Room check them in the main library.

ATHLETIC TICKETS FOR REGISTERED STUDENTS

The Dean and the office force are very anxious that every student procure his athletic ticket. It seems that there has been some misunderstanding concerning this matter. Every registered student who has paid the incidental fee of $4.00, or more, is entitled to a ticket without further expense. So let's all co-operate on this, get our tickets, go to the games, and help the boys to New Coming.

After a discussion the Division said that they could almost guarantee that a class of 50 to 100 students (advanced) would be assured. There is a new program of insurance being given at the University of Pennsylvania by Dr. Hobener. This course has been outlined and will be used at the University of Omaha this year.

To Show Harvard Film

Mr. Dunlap has made a visit, more of which will be said later, to Lincoln and the result follows. Harvard University each year puts out 22 reels of historical film. This year the University of Omaha offers these reels as a course, under the direction of Professor Kuhn. One hour's credit will be given to the students who attend the showing of these films, study the book which accompanies it, and successfully pass the exam given at the completion of the course.

Commercial Club Meets

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, the regular meeting of the Commercial Club was held. Plans were made for the hike which was held Saturday night. The club members and their escorts met at the end of the Florence car line and hiked to Hummel Park. Stanley Kuncel was the chairman of the committee which arranged the hike.

Mr. Hubka, honorary member of the club, gave a short talk, thanking the members for the honor of being allowed to belong to such a fine organization.

The Gateway reporter who covers the Department of Commerce, Phyllis Warrick, was made an honorary member and gave a short talk after Mr. Dunlap, straying from the strict path of truth, remarked that she was overly anxious to do so.

A short program, consisting of some piano numbers by Frederick Aye and several short talks, was given. Herbert Hudson, an old member of the club, told of the history of the club, including a motion made "long" years ago to the effect that Mr. Dunlap should wash the upper panes of some of the windows (they need it). This motion was never carried out but Mr. Dunlap cleverly evaded the issue. The meeting automatically adjourned at 11 o'clock.

This is the result of the dream of two men who were not only dreamers but doers.

Prof. Kuhn For Hoover-Curtis

The Rev. Mr. Albert Kuhn, History and German Professor, has been asked by the Nebraska Republican Committee to electioneer for Hoover and Curtis among the German-Americans. Dr. Kuhn has already written several letters on the subject, and may speak in other sections of the state.

Professor Kuhn has suggested that all students who would like to work at the polls for either party might be excused from classes November 6. This suggestion has not been acted upon as yet.

OMAHA U. PRESIDENT IS FAVORITE SPEAKER

Follow the leader, must be the favorite pastime of the Omaha organizations, judging by the way Dr. Emery has been sought after as a speaker.

On Wednesday, October 10, he spoke for the Educational Division of the Insurance department of the Chamber of Commerce. On Thursday, the Executive Board of the University met at the Y. M. C. A. where the subject "A Greater University of Omaha" was discussed.

On Monday, October 15, he addressed the Omaha Ministerial Association on "Religion in Education".

F. C. Stevenson Speaks to Y. M.

Rocky Mountain Region Secretary
Tells Local "Y" Of Work
Of Organization

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week F. C. Stevenson, secretary of the Rocky Mountain Region, conferred with "Y" members in the Y. M. C. A. Den on matters pertaining to school influences, social activities, home life, and "Y" work. He suggested many good ideas in furthering the work of the "Y's", and also talked on christianity and religion.

From National "Y"

Mr. Stevenson is one of the three secretaries sent out by the National Y. M. C. A. to work in the colleges of the states in the Rocky Mountain Region. The remainder of the United States is divided into nine other regions with field secretaries at work. The colleges of this region are in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, and one is in Utah.

Work Of Secretary

Mr. Stevenson has his office in the Omaha Y. M. C. A., and extends his work out from Omaha. His purpose is to help students during their college career to aim for the better things in life, and to make the college Y. M. C. A. a functioning organization which teaches all students to live as Christians.

R. Bayard Swinford of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association was sent by Mr. Stevenson to the U. of Omaha campus last year where he gave a talk on prohibition to the students of Dr. Vartanian's Freshman Lecture Class.

Plan for Sherwood Eddy

In talking to President Butler of the Y. M. C. A. plans were discussed for bringing Sherwood Eddy to the U. of Omaha campus next spring. Mr. Stevenson thought it very possible and plans will be laid accordingly in both "Y" organizations.

Mr. Stevenson was cordially received, and it is hoped his stay was pleasant, and that he will be glad to visit the U. of Omaha again in the future.

Stick 'Em Up

Stickers, stickers, stickers! They're in the halls, on lockers, being carried around on brief cases. They're posted on telephone poles, street car company poles, and the students' autos are decorated with them on front and back. Even the doors of the Gateway Office and the "Y" Den have stickers attached. "What are these stickers?" the uninformed might ask. We reply, "They are triangular red stickers with U. of Omaha in black, and also the Omaha Seal."

"They were designed by Floyd Wilson, printed through the efforts of Don Butler, and sold at the Color Week on Color Day last Wednesday by the 'Y' organization for the purpose of boosting the University of Omaha."

CAFETERIA MEETS WITH BIG SUCCESS

Add Equipment; Increase Menus;
Faculty and Students
Patronize Well.

"Our cafeteria is a big success, and students are patronizing it very well," said Mrs. Johnson when asked about the progress of the cafeteria. "We are now serving meat every day and have three kinds of salads," she added.

Already a new oven has been purchased, and it is expected that now some of the pastry goods will be made here at the school. Just at present, the only bread that can be made is biscuits.

Donations Help

Many donations have been made to the cafeteria by those interested in its progress. Mr. Davidson, vice-president of the Nebraska Power Company, has given two electric toasters, while some one else has donated four baskets of beets, and another two baskets of tomatoes. Several people have brought flowers to brighten up the place. The coffee urn was donated by the Masterman Coffee company.

Balanced Menus

Miss McCartney's household arts pupils have made thirty glasses of jelly out of fruits purchased by the cafeteria, and this jelly will be used at various times in the menu. Through Miss McCartney's careful effort, the menus have been carefully balanced, says Mrs. Johnson.

The cafeteria has become very popular with the faculty as well as the students. There will soon be a faculty table to which will be used by any members to gather together. Miss Platt, French instructor, has suggested the idea that there be a French table at which she will teach students the menu in French.

Poor Helped

Several students work at different times to pay for their lunch. Mrs. Wells, cook, is big hearted and every day takes a basket of left-overs to a poor family.

Community Chest Has Annual Drive

Ask for Eleven Thousand Dollar
Increase Over Last Year;
Reasons Given.

The Community Chest will launch its sixth annual campaign on October 15, for a $446,649 feather in Omaha's cap.

Goal Set

For 1929 the Chest is asking $446,649 as compared to $435,000 in 1928 but the reasons are definite and cogent.

One additional agency, the Nebraska Children's Home, has been readmitted to the chest, thus relieving many contributors of a call during the year from this organization.

Lot is Heavier

Business conditions resulting in considerable unemployment in the past few years have left an aftermath of destitution, broken morale and ill health, among the poorest of our people, which will make the lot borne by charitable agencies, heavier for months and years to come.

Every dollar requested by the chest is even more urgently needed than money asked for in the past.

Hoover Wins!

One Hoover, namely John, of the College of Commerce, has won the election, and now reigns supreme as grand and exalted ruler of the Color Week Club. Perhaps some one ought to inform "him" for the moment that he is a member of the club.

WHY POETS DIE YOUNG

For weeks Alfred Tennyson Byron, Jr., had been practicing his speech of proposal. At last he figured he had worked out a good one. There was a full moon and all that sort of thing.

"I am wild about you," he breathed, "and in my heart burns the flame of an undying love. I worship you with a tremendous, over-powering, all-encompassing adoration."

"Oh, goody!" said the girl.

Being everlastingly on the job beats carrying a rabbit's foot for luck.

Said one little chick, with a funny little squirm,
"I wish I could find a nice little worm."
Said another little chick with a queer little shrug,
"I wish I could find a nice little bug."
Said a third little chick with a shrill little squeal,
"I wish I could find some nice yellow meal."
"Look here," said the mother from the green garden-patch,
"If you wasn't any breakfast, get busy and scratch."

And So!

Once upon a time, not so many years ago, a handsome young boy went for a visit to France. In Paris he met a very beautiful girl, and immediately fell in love. When it came time for him to leave Paris, the girl gave him a note, written in French, and instructed him to have the first Frenchman he chanced to meet, read it.

The man, (whose name was Roland), asked the hotel keeper where he stayed to read it for him. The quaint Frenchman read a few lines, threw up his hands in horror, and cried: "Parbleu! Quittez ma maison immédiatement! Get out! Mon Dieu, what a creature!"

The astonished Roland left, and found other lodging for the night. Again, he implored the hotel keeper to read the note, and he met with the same request to leave immediately.

After this had happened several times, Roland gave up in despair, put the note in his vest pocket, and sailed for America. In New York he fell in love with another beautiful girl, and this time he asked her to become his wife. Her parents agreed to the match, but insisted that to test his courage, he should first spend a year in the wilds of Canada.

Roland went to Canada, and there asked several men to translate the note which the French girl had given him. Each man was startled, shocked and horrified, and ordered him to quit his presence at once.

Finally, in despair, Roland asked a lawyer to read the note. The lawyer did so, and immediately issued orders to have him sent to a desolate island in Alaska.

Here Roland spent the rest of his life. When he was a very old man, with snowy white hair, he chanced upon a man on the island who had been banished from the continent. Roland, thinking that his life was almost over, decided to ask the man if he could read French, and if he would be kind enough to read his note.

The man agreed, but asked first to go into his cabin and get his glasses. When he came out, he adjusted his glasses, sat down on a log, and asked for the note. Roland started to hand it to him, but just then a strong gust of wind came along and blew the note out of his hand, and into the ocean, and do you know, Roland never did find out what was in that note!

Yours,

POLLY.

Musical Assembly Held on October 10

Assembly on Wednesday, October 10, was essentially musical. After the devotions, Dr. Emery, because of an important meeting, left and turned the assembly over to Dean James who gave Professor Logan complete charge. Irma Clow, a special student in the College of Music, was the soloist of the morning. Miss Clow is a member of the Omaha Symphony Orchestra and is widely known for her remarkable ability as a harpist. Her selections were: an imitation of an old fashioned Music Box; "Barcarolle" from Tales of Hoffman; "Marzurka"; "The Patrol March"; and "Echoes of a Waterfall."

We would be greatly obliged to the man who would exert himself and do the world a big favor and give someone a speech by finding a word that may be used by the members of what used to be the Weather sea in place of that word CUTE! Wouldn't you?

Alumnae

Don't you often wonder what becomes of the Cardinals when they leave school? Some of them go to other schools, some get married and some do still more rash things. But for the most part they remember their Alma Mater, and thus Miss Barnes receives a great many letters.

Gouldie Mitchell, A. B. in June 1928, is taking masters work in Home Economics at the University of Chicago. In January, she will accept a teaching position in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Windham Bonham, A. B. in June 1928, well known for his debate work and as winner of the National Peace award, is, as usual, loaded down with work. He is taking both law, at North Western University, and theological work at Garrett Biblical Seminary at Evanston, Ill. He writes that he and Mrs. Bonham, also a former student, are both enjoying the work.

Philip Van Luvan, A. B. in 1928, expected to go to Yale, but instead, he is taking work at the Chicago Theological Seminary, a school with an enrollment of 700. He is working for his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees, as he already has a B. D. He sends his best wishes for the progress of the University.

Charles Wood, A. B. in 1928, is in New York City. He is working there and taking work toward his master's degree at the same time.

Professor T. Earl Sullenger, head of the Sociology Department on a leave of absence, is finishing his work at the University of Missouri, when he receives his Ph. D. probably in February, he will return to the U. of O. His letter was sent mainly for the purpose of securing the Gateway.

Mac's Mutterings

In giving a completion test in Psychology the other day, Miss Weber gave out the following sentence and then wondered why her class laughed: "The snake is the (blank) where the (blank) mingle. That is, the snake is the what you may call it where the what you call then mingle."

WE FROZE the first week of this semester and now when it should be snowing without, we are exceedingly warm within.

WE WONDER if the fellow who wrote "Let the Rest of the World Go By" was parked by a Stop sign?

IT WOULD help the advertising staff a great deal if we would mention this paper when buying from our advertisers.

NOW THAT there will be no football game this Friday, maybe—just maybe—some of us will get caught up on our classes.

A FRESHMAN has recently asked this column for advice, and so we pass his letter along. "I called up a girl last night and asked her for a date tomorrow night, and she said she was planning on having a headache then. What shall I do?"

THERE THERE, little freshman. You will grow up into a great big, beautiful, handsome sophomore by and bye.

AND THEN you will have to make YOUR excuses to the co-eds!

A certain co-ed in the Gateway office says that she had a fight with her boy friend because she said Dempsey was a better fighter than Tunney. She declares in defense, "I just hate narrow-minded people."

She:—Have you got a pin?
He:—I'm not effeminate.
She:—Have you a match?
He:—I don't smoke.
She:—Have you a tooth-pick, then?
He:—I don't eat.
She:—Have you a capstan?

Katherine Bloss and Lorene Shofelt of the University of Omaha attended the State Christmas Endeavor Convention last week-end at Hastings, Nebraska. Helen Harkins, chairman of the university, was also there. Dr. Timothy Stone of national renown was one of the main speakers at the convention.

"THE CUBS' CORNER"

This literary corner is especially intended for the publication of amateur poetry and short prose selections written exclusively by the students of the University of Omaha. The encouragement of talent along literary lines is its earnest aim. Any contributions from students will be welcomed.

If you want to go to the kind of a school
That's the kind of a school you like—
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip,
And start on a long, long, hike.
For you'll find somewhere what you left behind
There really is nothing new,
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school,
For it isn't your school; it's you.
Real schools are not made by pupils afraid
Lest somebody else get ahead,
Where everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a school from the dead.
And, if while making your own good grades,
You can help another, too,
Your school will be what you want to see
For it isn't your school, it's you!

Parody on "If You Want to Live in the Kind of a Town."—by Phyllis Warriek.)

"AN AUTUMN MEADOW"

I feel the lure of the blue dusk on a lonely meadow, where the lingering Summer longest dallied, dreaming on its silver grasses, sighing her last, few, gentle breaths, contentedly, alone. Her closing eyes were on those naked trees, perhaps, still glorious with red and yellow-brown. Her dulling ears were sealed for that long sleep, by rapturous chords from those brilliant harps played by the fingers of the wanton wind, careless of rhythm or of harmony, or ought but their wild rhapsody. In their willful way they played a while, and trilling, soon sped on to other trees with sweeter melodies. And her they left behind them, but that she did not know.

And now the aching restlessness of Autumn night prevades the very covert where she lay. The boisterous leaves dance high about my wandering feet, as brown, as smooth, as mischievous as they. As silken as a shining strand from a spider's rifled web, they jostle down across my way, laughing, teasing, peering in my face to see, who I may be, where I am bound, and what is wrong with me. They will not lie down peaceably, they rather follow after me. And so they, too, are gay with life, and dance their hour, until a stronger shaking sends a shower of drab, old,—dead leaves, over me, that do not rise again. And when they sink down sodden there upon the frosted ground, so weary from their last soft song. I sit down, too, among them, and they fill my lap with grateful murmurings, as if I, too, were through with dancing—and with song.

—"Lee"

Ah—At Last!

Turning the seventeen and some odd shades of color in the rainbow, our hero dashed madly to his telephone, and gasped out the fatal promise, "yes, yes, I'll bring them right over." The call came from our hero's church and the usual breach of promise suit seemed inevitable!

When the smoke cleared away, however, it was discovered that one of the members of Merle Mennie's church had merely called him to return some chairs that Mr. Mennie had borrowed some weeks before. Needless to say, the breach of promise suit was a false alarm.

Yea, Bo!

Gibberish mutterings, excited exclamations, and a round of noise greeted a reporter as he hurried up the steps to Joslyn Hall. "That must be the cheer leaders practicing some new yell," said he to himself.

So with that he glanced in at the open window, and saw Professor Kuhn leading the general pandemonium. "What," thought the surprised reporter, "Has professor Kuhn taken up yell leading?"

On inquiry it was learned that Professor Kuhn was only drilling his German Class in the intricacies of pronunciation, and was not spending his time teaching football yells.

Who's Who at the U. of O.?

NOEL J. LOGAN, Dean of the School of Music.

Prof. Noel J. Logan, head of the School of Music, of the University of Omaha, has a great deal of musical experience behind him.

He comes from Roland, Ia. He has attended a number of Colleges and studied under many famous teachers. He first attended the Iowa state University and Iowa State Teachers College. Then he turned his steps eastward, and studied at the David Mann School of Music, in New York City, and at the Boston University.

Among the famous teachers who have helped him toward his almost phenomenal success have been, Dr. Toren in New York City, Prof. Lewis Kreidler in Chicago, H. Augustine Smith in Boston.

He has taught music in schools in the mid-west. He was head of the Penn School of Music at Penn College in Oklaheesa, Ia. For a time Prof. Logan was a guest instructor at the Otomwa School of Music and Dramatic Arts. When asked what is his favorite sport, Mr. Logan vehemently answered "More Music!" Then he likes basketball, but he didn't say whether he liked it as a spectator or as a participant. He likes football, too.

When asked what he thought of the University of Omaha Prof. Logan said "I think it is THE school." Mrs. Logan, too, is musically inclined, so we can expect that Martha, the sixteen month old titian haired daughter of this musical family, will be an opera star or at least a composer. But in a word, the U. of O. is fortunate in having such a modest yet skilled Music Director.

FREDERIC M. PEIRCE,
Sophomore President.

The president of the Sophs is quite a man about town, Frederic Peirce came to Omaha from Ft. Wayne, Indiana, and went to North High for two years. Then he came to the U. of O. He pledged Theta Phi Delta and served as President of their pledges. To show how his frat brothers trust him, they made him treasurer. Last year he served the Frosh as student Council representative, and as chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

Dramatics and Public Speaking are his hobbies, while tennis is his favorite sport. He sings, too, for he is a member of the Vested Choir. All in all, it seems his vote is his fortune, for he is a cheer leader of no mean ability.

When asked what he thought of school this year, he answered in true American fashion, "Bigger and Better." Freddie, as he is most often called, went on to say, "I firmly believe that the University of Omaha has entered an era of prosperity. In the next five years I expect to see a cosmopolitan university, a new campus, and a student body numbering into the thousands."

GREEKS

Sigma Chi Omicron

At the last meeting of the Sigma Chi Omicron sorority the pledges of this sorority organized and elected their officers. Spirit High at U. of O. This Year, Emery Declares

"According to the reports I have been receiving," declared President Emery at the assembly on Friday morning, October 12, "the University of Omaha is showing more spirit this year than ever before in its history."

Mr. Logan led the college in singing and Mr. Hammer offered a short prayer. Captain Barber gave a short talk in which he described the eagerness of the football team for the coming conflict with Tarkio that afternoon.

Coach Dunlap sent word that he had arranged to have the game held at the North High field on account of the muddy gridiron at Ames Avenue. Professor Guilfoill, debate coach, announced the prospects for the coming season of oral debate. The pep team lead the assembly in yells and the meeting was closed.

Dr. O. A. Kostal, of Giltner, Nebraska, visited the University while in Omaha last week. He was on his way to a Medical Convention in Kansas City. He is a graduate of the U. of O. of 1922, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree. He received a medical degree at the Nebraska College of Medicine. He has been practicing in Giltner since 1924, having worked up a good practice there.

Assembly Committee Plans Big Programs

The Assembly Committee is making plans for the assembly programs for the coming year. Special speakers will be brought to the school from time to time. Other assembly periods will be given over to pep meetings and programs by student talent.

"We want to use student talent and keep the interest at the assembly periods so high and so organized that the students and faculty will have a very direct interest in each assembly period," said Dr. Emery.

He went on to say that, as a rule, Monday morning programs would be given over to special speakers, student talent programs would be given on Wednesdays, and pep meetings would be held on Fridays.

VISITORS

During the last week Dr. Emery has been very much engrossed with school affairs, so much so, in fact, that he has not the usual array of noted visitors. He was "at home," however, the day the state Y. M. C. A. Secretary Mr. Stevenson came to call.

MRS. STEVENS HONORED

Mrs. Stevens, Dean of Women, has been invited to join the Nebraska State Organization of Deans of Women. She is eligible to this organization as she is a member of the State Teachers' Association and is the Dean of Women at the University of Omaha. She will attend the convention of this group in Lincoln on November 2.

Mr. Dunlap Tries Well Known Chicago Trick; Buddie Hall Is Victim of Ride

When in your car, don't take passengers. This most excellent advice comes from Mr. Dunlap himself. It seems that he knows from sad experience. Last Wednesday, when he went from Lincoln on most pressing business, one of his students, Bud Hall, "bummed" a ride.

The ride to Lincoln was a very ordinary one. On the arrival the two separated, Bud promising to meet Mr. Dunlap early the next morning at the Alpha Theta Chi house.

After a long night's sleep, Mr. Dunlap arose on time and called the house. A sleepy voice on the phone informed him that no such person had resided there that night. Immediately he jumped into the car and hurried down to the house, where it took the most earnest efforts of the

GREAT SOUSA PRESENTS AUTOGRAPHED BATON TO OMAHA UNI BAND LEADER

"I take great pleasure in presenting you with this baton," said John Philip Sousa to Miss Evelyn McDonald, Drum Major of the U. of O. Band, when he publicly presented her with an autographed baton. The presentation was made at the Technical High school auditorium, during the intermission of his concert on Monday night, October 8, and following his direction of the Tech High Band in playing his original composition "Liberty Bell."

Meets Great Musicians

The youthful musician was introduced to the famous director on Monday afternoon by Henry Wendland, music instructor at Technical High School and through whose influence Sousa and his band were brought to Omaha last week. Miss McDonald says that by the time the evening concert was played she felt as though she had known the great Sousa all her life. "He must be a great friend, as well as musician," she said enthusiastically. Evelyn, although only nineteen, has met many great musicians, and insists that Sousa is the greatest of all.

"Thrilled To Death"

When asked how she felt to have such a man give her the autographed baton before a large audience, the Drum Major's brown eyes snapped, and she exclaimed, "Oh, I was thrilled to death!" The baton which was given her is the same one which Sousa used to direct the Tech band

What's In An Education?

Endowments for all types of schools in the United States in 1926 exceeded $1,000,000,000, as reported recently by the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior.

The total valuation of all the school property in that year, according to this report, was approximately $8,125,085,472, and the grand total of enrollments in all the types of schools was about $31,037,736. The total amount of endowments reported by schools in 1926 is as follows: teachers' colleges, normal schools, and academies, $67,151,000, colleges and universities, $987,012,929, which makes a total of $1,073,589,042.—The Altheia.

"See here," said Dr. Emery to a reporter, "What do you mean by inserting the expression 'Applause' in parentheses in my speech?" "Applause?" Great Scott, Doctor, I thought I wrote 'applause.'" when they played last Monday night while his own band rested.

Has Shown Ability

The U. of O. band leader is already known on the campus for her ardent interest in music, and for her splendid direction of the university band, recently organized. She is the only girl oboe player in the city of Omaha, and the only girl to have ever played in the Technical High School Band, which is now ten years old. Last year she served as its drum major, and was Assistant Supervisor in Music at her high school, as well as director of the preparatory band there. Evelyn McDonald is a pledge to Gamma Sigma Omicron Sorority.

PRE-MEDIC CLUB TO MEET

Dr. McClenahan will give a series of lectures before the Pre-Medic students. His first lecture will be Thursday morning, October 18, at 10:00 at Science Hall in Room 4. All interested are invited.

DEBATE SCHEDULE IS COMPLETE; COTNER 1ST

Professor F. K. Guilfoill went to Lincoln on Saturday, October 13, to represent the University of Omaha in a convention of debate representatives. The purpose of the meeting was to make a debate schedule for the coming year.

Last year the University of Omaha debate team was the champion team of Nebraska and Missouri. Omaha was presented with a silver shield as token of championship for the year of 1928. Two years ago the University of Omaha team tied Northwestern University in a debate on Prohibition. All other teams debating with Northwestern were defeated.

Mr. Guilfoill stated, "To retain the shield which signifies the victory of our team, we must win the championship for three years. The University of Omaha is the first name to be inscribed upon the plate, and we want it to be the only one. Our success depends upon the united support of the student body and all other willing persons. We ask that all the talent in the college be represented."

"Resolved that the present jury system in the United States shall be abolished" has been chosen as the debate question. The schedule for 1929 is as follows:

Omaha vs. Dana College, dual debate (preliminary; no-decision, for early season practice) both sides at Omaha, afternoon and evening, January 23.

Cotner College, dual debate, February 21 or 22.

Midland College, dual debate, February 28.

Kearney S. T. C., dual debate, March 1.

Doane College, dual debate, March 8.

These dates are tentative and subject to change on making final contract with other schools.

"Y" NOTES

Guy Nushaum, program chairman of the Y. M. C. A., had charge of the joint "Y" meeting, held October 9, in the Conservatory. He said, "Students are judged by their loyalty to the school as shown by attendance at assemblies and "Y" meetings and by cheering at the games." These sentiments were expressed in singing first the "U. of O." song and second "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus".

Aims of "Y"

Dr. Vartanian gave a rousing talk about "Y" membership. He gave the aims of the "Y" as follows: "To create and maintain a wholesome social and moral atmosphere among all cases of students; to promote a true school-spirit through open and fair minded discussions of campus problems and through other means; to give the students a world-outlook through the knowledge of national and international racial and inter-racial problems; to encourage a spirit of good-will and helpfulness towards all; to lead the students to the acceptance of Jesus as the Master of individual life, and His will, the only way to realize the highest individual and social ideals." The students may sign this pledge either as active or associate members. The "Y" wants quality rather than quantity.

Slader Speaks

Ellen Ann Slader told in her vivacious way what "Y" means to her and to the school. She promised a great year and "lots of good times". She mentioned Convention and Varieties and Color Day as interesting "Y" activities.

President Emery also spoke to the students. He expects the "Y" organizations to do great things.

COLOR DAY

Color Day, conducted last Wednesday was very successful according to Ellen Anne Slader who had charge of the sale. This will be made an annual affair, and the Y's will have complete charge.

Colors are also being sold before the football games, and then the book-room will then take over the sale.

During the sale in Room 5 a very clever color scheme was carried out. Before the windows red streamers were hung, and the booth was decorated in red and black. On the left of the table were megaphones made of buttermilk containers with their bottoms removed. In the middle were the red and black stickers; the U. of Omaha colors, and small footballs. At the other end of the table were red and black crepe hats. The entire effect was very pleasing.

housekeeper to convince him that no Bud was to be found there. She directed our new enraged teacher to another house at the other end of town. Here a sleepy Bud informed him that the alarm clock had not rung.

As a fairly passenger stumbled down the steps to the cars, he quite ignored the flower beds at the foot. The result was an amusing (to every one but the participant) fall in the same flower bed.

What was said on the ride homeward is not known, but it was not of the nature of that on the way. A final warning from Mr. Dunlap is as follows: "Never take Bud Hall anywhere with you if you want to get home."

Cardinals Battle Tarkio to Scoreless Tie; Omahans Overcome Great Weight Handicap

Outweighed twenty pounds to the man, the University of Omaha football team held Tarkio to a scoreless tie last Friday afternoon, October 12. Taking everything into consideration, the experience and weights of the two teams, the third game of the season for the Cardinals was a moral victory and a technical defeat for Tarkio. This can be seen from the summary, for the Omaha eleven outclassed Tarkio by far in the yards gained by scrimmage and in first downs.

It was a slippery, muddy field that confronted the contestants when the game was called. The extra twenty pounds per man advantage, held by the Tarkio team, now turned out to be a great disadvantage because on a muddy field light men are faster than heavy ones. That this lightness was to be a big factor in the game was seen before the game when Coach Hubka issued orders to wear light sweat shirts, no long socks and to take the thigh pads out of the pants. A full extra outfit was taken along for fourteen men to be used at the half in case the other suits were wet and muddy. The excellent construction of the North high field made this unnecessary. In fact the North high field had dry mud, if such a thing is possible.

Teamwork was the feature of the game. The capable generalship of Bennie Huff, coupled with the toe work of O'Hanlon, did great work for the game. Omaha took advantage of every turn of the game and benefited by all of Tarkio's mistakes.

The game started with Omaha on the end of the kicking line and things did happen. The kick was a pretty one, going far into Tarkio's territory, and a short return was made. Then Tarkio set out to take the ball onto Omaha ground and across the goal line before the game was very old, but this was not to be done as they had not reckoned with Lady Luck, a dark horse, that was the twelfth horse of the team. At this point, Tarkio's snapperback, Ginn, passed badly, and they were thrown for a seventeen yard loss. Tarkio gained a little bit more, but were frustrated in using the aerial by Huff and the ball was Omaha's on their own twenty yard line. Omaha could not do much against Tarkio's forward wall, so reserved her strength for later on in the game and kicked out.

On another first period march down the field, Carl of Tarkio fumbled and Omaha's light fullback, Bob Streitwieser, broke and recovered the oval, to prevent another attempted touchdown.

Tarkio seemed to be playing way under their usual style, as in the second quarter after O'Hanlon's 38 yard boot to Tarkio's 32 yard line Huston fumbled and Threadgill, Omaha's left tackle, recovered to give the Cardinals the ball.

Taking advantage of this unforeseen break the Omahans started a determined campaign for the goal. A line buck failed and a short pass was incomplete, but undaunted O'Hanlon stepped back and heaved a pass to Roberts for 30 yards. The half ended just then with the ball on Tarkio's 13 yard line. This was the closest that either team got in the whole game to their opponent's goal.

Not to be stopped in the last half, Tarkio came back with a rush, but the Omaha team was there waiting at every hand. Tarkio did get the ball down to the twenty-three yard line but here the Omaha line stiffened and, playing stonewall football, compelled their opponents to take the air. They came nearly pulling a face over on Omaha but Roberts was wide awake and knocked a pass out of the hands of Woods of Tarkio as he was about ready to punch it out of the air. Just before the last of the game the Tarkio men tried some old line strategy in the hidden end trick.

For an instant it looked as though the run would work but Edwards saw him just in time and followed him to the goal line where Huff blocked the ball out of the air to end the game—Tarkio 0, Omaha 0. Omaha's line was a big feature of the game, getting ten yards for Omaha on every exchange of punts. His average was 41 yards, while one try went for sixty yards.

Tarkio had a power play that was a jinx to the Omaha line and it was all that the Omaha line could do at times to withstand the thrusts of this play.

Tarkio's outstanding men were Herr and Thomas at left guard and tackle respectively, while the high lights in the backfield were Carl and Hayman.

Streitwieser of Omaha, although a new man and still a little bit weak on football, showed Hubka he had the makings of a fullback in him. He has been playing third string center up till the time that Balen was hurt, but was drafted to the important position of backing up the line. Balen was put in in the last half because of an injury to Streitwieser's hip and showed well despite his injuries.

Substitutions: Omaha—George for Quisenberry, Bolen for Streitwieser, Woods for Boehler; Tarkio—Green for Hoyman, Aistrophe for Huston. Yards gained from scrimmage—Omaha 25, Tarkio 160; yards lost from scrimmage—Omaha 10, Tarkio 17; First Downs—Omaha 1, Tarkio 13; Kickoffs—Omaha 1 for 50 yards, Tarkio 1 for 23 yards; Kickoffs returned—Omaha 1 for 10 yards, Tarkio 1 for 28 yards; Punts—Omaha 14 for 576; average 41 yards, Tarkio 11 for 364 yards; average 33 yards; Punts returned—Omaha 36 yards, Tarkio 18 yards; Passes—Omaha attempted 8, completed 2 for 42 yards, Tarkio attempted 9, completed 2 for 24 yards intercepted—Omaha 2, Tarkio none; Penalties—Omaha 15 yards, Tarkio 40 yards; Fumbles—Omaha 1, Tarkio 2; Recovered—Omaha 1, Tarkio 2.

Officials: Referee—Hutchinson, Nebraska; Umpire—Smith, Grinnell; Head Linesman—Smith, Nebraska; Wesleyan.

EMERY PRAISES SPIRIT OF O. U. SPORTSMANSHIP

That the University of Omaha has a great spirit of sportsmanship was easily seen by the way they appreciated the good plays of the Army in the game with Fort Crook. It was disconcerting to see the Army make a touchdown at the end of the game, but it was a good play and as such was appreciated.

In referring to the game with the Army and the spirit exhibited, Dr. Emery said, "I feel that Student Spirit is as essential in every game as a strong football team."

In the left end position, Hubka has a stalwart player in the personage of Roberts. He is a two year letterman from Kearney State Normal and is showing up in fine shape this year.

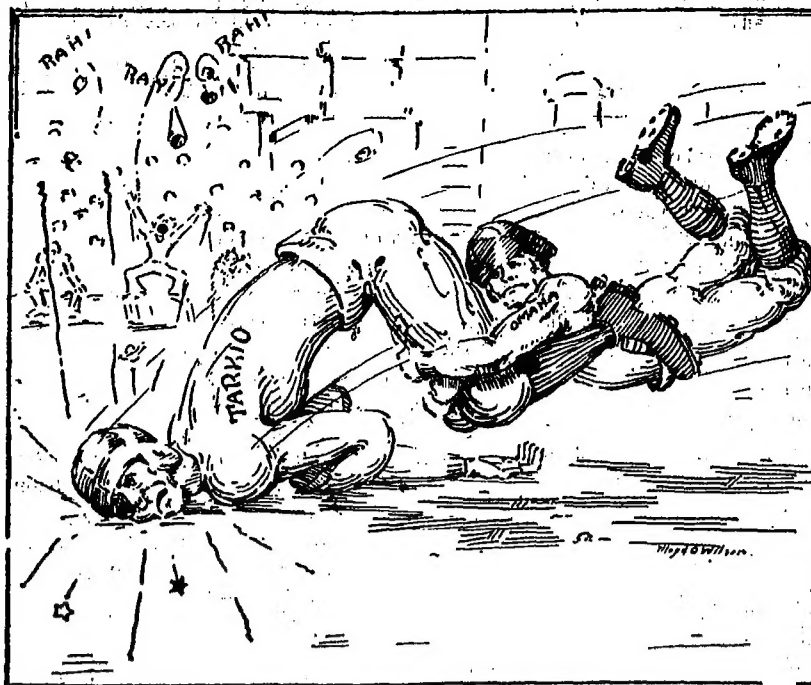

Helmatader, filling the line at right tackle, is a stonewall at all times. He sure showed up in the last game.

Matthews, because of weight, didn't get off to a good start last season, but to date he seems to be out there with a good chance to stay up on top with the rest.

One of our old lettermen, Dave Cheneau, has come back to his old Alma Mater to keep the ball a rolling and will get a chance in the games as soon as he is in shape.

Motimer, although he is very light, has the stuff in him to stay out and play while some of the other larger ones have gotten cold feet and quit.

Who is that big man at the other end? Why, that is "big bad Quisenberry," who is a terror on the team. When he starts a "comin'" the other team starts a "not."

Who Said We Couldn't Fight!!

FACULTY MEMBERS 100% FOR TEAM; FAIR PLAY SPIRIT NOTED BY TEACHERS

"Find that dictionary!" That is the aim of the sports reporter as he has found out through different interviews that the faculty can not find enough adjectives to describe the team.

President Emery, in a snappy interview Tuesday afternoon, gave forth the following statement, "I can't use enough adjectives to describe this year's team. I am more than pleased with the spirit of both the boys and the students as they seem to be working together to develop the team. I am giving every ounce of energy to make the football team and the football season a success, and I am very much concerned with each and every football man."

There is a spirit of sportsmanship that seems to inspire all the boys; and, on the other hand, they all play fair with the one idea uppermost in their minds, namely to boost the team and strive for its success. We are giving the team every advantage possible so as to put out a winning team; proof of this is seen in the new equipment furnished this year.

"The girls are so enthused with this new school spirit that they want to start basketball right away, but they have delayed beginning the season until the first of November when they intend to start active training. The Board of Trustees is backing the team strong as evidenced from the group of them out to the Fort Crook game. Taking things altogether, I think that we have at last got off on the right foot."

Dean James Gives Opinion:

Dean W. G. James is of the same opinion when it comes to sportsmanship and clean playing as evidenced from the information dropped by him Wednesday, "Prospects are bright for a winning team if they will only keep up the systematic work and their stamina both physical and mental. Ineligibility has wrecked some of the teams in past years, but we sincerely hope that this will not be a major factor this year. It takes a lot of stamina after an afternoon workout to maintain the mental side but in so doing a fellow really shows himself to be a man. He also has to do this in real life when he has to cope with the business and financial worries of the workaday world."

Many have spoken well of the team especially the sportsmanlike attitude. The crowd was much better last time than at Norfolk as there was none of that "Kill him" yelling. I really think that it is the best showing that we have had in years."

Army Game Interesting

Miss Pearl Schaefer, Dr. Emery's secretary, is a loyal Omaha football booster coming forward to state that they are a real hardworking bunch of fellows. Last Friday's game was one of the most interesting games that I have seen. If they always play as hard in every game as they did then, I am sure they will win."

Mrs. Stevens, Dean of Women, when interviewed said that she had not been out to any of the games as yet but that she will be there with her voice next time if the boys don't fail.

Miss Ward Well Pleased

"I am exceptionally well pleased with the showing of the team," said Miss Ward, Wednesday, when the Gateway reporter invaded the sanctity of her chemistry laboratory. "They are doing very well, and I hope that they will continue to do so. If they do, it will make me very happy. Mr. LaRue, the Ames avenue cafeteria owner, is very much interested and pleased with the showing of the team. This shows that the outside interests are waking up and taking an interest in the University of Omaha."

Miss Wood tried to hide herself away in her little office, but she was at last ferreted out and made to divulge her thoughts pro and con about the team, as it happened, they were all pro. "They are a mighty fine looking team, and I am proud of them. I thoroughly enjoyed the game as the boys played good clean football."

OVAL PICKUPS

Edwards certainly makes the other teams sit up and take notice when he starts one his sensational end runs.

Johnny Barber plays a consistent and steady game at the center position.

O'Hanlon, with his triple threat, would be a big boost to any team.

Little "Bennie Huff," playing at the quarterback's position, is certainly a fine field general.

Boehler has found the position that he seems to fill well. At guard he should be a stonewall in the defense.

Hutchinson, playing his second year at end has taken this worry off Hubka's shoulders.

Bolen, although right now out with injuries, is to be back in the lineup soon and will strengthen the fellows materially.

Campbell, the flashy halfback from York, showed his gameness the other night when he suited up for dummy scrimmage and carried the oval with the rest of the squad. In so doing he hurt his shoulder again and so will be out for some time.

Threadgill, a newcomer from Tech, seems to be making a name for himself on offense as well as defense.

Coach Hubka says that it isn't so much what the fellow does after the workout, but what he can really show in the scrimmages and the games that counts.

Sombody sure messed up Kaba's face for him. He has the spirit in him that every player should have, that of "Keep Comin'." Good luck to you, Kaba.

Streitwieser has gotten his chance with the first string as fullback, and the outlook for him is rather bright.

Sportitorial

Say, were you there? Maybe you were and maybe you weren't, but that is your hard luck as you missed one of the season's best games, if you didn't have enough gumption to get out and help the team, and if you were there you saw one of the season's classics. That team went out on the North High field determined to give the best that was in them—win or lose. From the report of the game found on this same page you can plainly see that the boys were there!

Did they keep a comin'? They surely did. I was there and speaking from facts it was one of the best football games that I have witnessed for many a day. From that starting whistle till the final gun the Omaha team seemed to be possessed with something that was unbeatable. It was that spirit of the battle that couldn't be downed. The team was there for a purpose, and to finish that purpose the team would have died if necessary.

Did the other team keep a goin'? Surely they did, and you know it. What else could they do; with eleven set faces staring at them from across those mud-smeared chalk lines, they couldn't do anything else. So they did the inevitable; they broke down.

Did Omaha outfight the other team? Say, what are you asking me for? You ought to know. With the summary of the game before one, it is plain to see that the team was giving its all. Some of the fellows when they were hurt wanted to go back in the game, and play just the same. It takes nerve—with capital letters—to do that. Yes that is what really won the game for Omaha. That ability to outfight the other team.

It may have been a team playing against a team weighing twenty pounds more to the man, but that did not cut any figure, for little light team that was the "under dog" had the fight. In talking to some of the fellows at practice, Coach Hubka said, "Men, you are going against a team that is heavier than you are; they may be more experienced than you are, but there is something that they cannot do; that is outfight you. You may be the smaller team, but that doesn't cut much of a figure. Take for instance, fellows, some of the greatest men that Nebraska and other schools have had. They were light but they outfought their heavier opponents."

When a team is backed up with things and thoughts like that from a cracking good coach, is it any wonder that they want to fight that other team until they're dead, if need be? They have a spirit that is indomitable. They have a spirit of team work that one would have to look a long way to surpass. They have a spirit of sportsmanship that is higher than the average run of teams. In all they are a happy-go-lucky squad, ready for fun or work at all times, and are worthy

Hutchinson Pres. Of the "O" Club

The "O" Club will hold its first meeting of this year the first week following the close of the football season. The purpose of the "O" Club is to create an athletic spirit and to create fellowship. This is a secret organization, open to athletes who, through football, track basketball, tennis, golf and other sports, have made a letter by honorable means.

The officers of the "O" Club are: President, Duane Hutchinson; vice-president and secretary, Charles Malinson; and treasurer, Lawrence Barber. There are about fifteen or twenty members of the club now, with hopes of some new ones this year. A number of the present members have left Omaha, thus reducing the membership to a very few.

of having a true blue student body behind them.

Now there is no game this week, but next week we play our old rivals The Wayne Normal scrapers. They are a hard aggregation, and one that deserves consideration in the preparation for the game with them. Now, if coach Hubka and his sterling warriors are willing to put in three good solid hours a day for two weeks to fit themselves for the game, then the student body ought to be able to at least give a minute or two of their time during each of the two weeks to go up and see the fellows work out, and thus spur them on.

When that whistle is blown to start the game every student ought to feel himself morally bound to be holding down one of those places on that Grand Stand and rooting as hard as his lungs will permit. It doesn't take much time on that Friday, only two hours of some worthwhile time. You would probably only be home powdering your nose or pressing that good suit and it is a cinch that that could wait till the last whistle has blown and the last cheer has floated away to be lost forever.

Back that team! Fight with them! Help them! And be there at those practice sessions, and lastly, BE AT THAT GAME!

MERLE MENNIE.

The best place on the campus to build up a moral atmosphere is at the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Everyone join these two organizations.
